AMBAG Gets PT&T Announces $60,000 Grant Major Projects

Assemblyman Bob Wood and Senator Donald L. Grunsky announced in Sacramento recently that AMBAG has been awarded a $60,000 grant from the California Council on Intergovernmental Relations.

The grant to the Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments was approved for one year, to commence July 1, 1973. The AMBAG program will include the completion of the land use plan, implementation of housing plans, and plans dealing with the varied environmental concerns of the region. In carrying out this program, AMBAG intends to establish new, and improve existing means of coordination of citizen participation in the process of comprehensive planning with this region.

Wood and Grunsky in a joint statement said that "this state grant will help AMBAG in planning for the solution of many of the regional problems that effect the Monterey Bay Area. We are happy to announce the state's desire to continue with the needed funding for this program."

School Spends Time Updating Its Methods

Teachers at Fremont Junior High School in Seaside spent the afternoon of March 6 working on ways to update their approaches in the classroom. Principal Roger Kelly announced.

On that day, students were dismissed around mid day and the teaching staff met from 1 to 5 p.m. with Sharon Belshaw, an assistant professor of secondary education at California State University at San Jose. Kelly said the afternoon workshop focused on current methodology, including work in classroom organization, motivational techniques in all subject areas, streamlining of grading and project development in various areas of the curriculum.

The principal said one outgrowth of the Tuesday workshop is a continuing effort to teach reading skills as a part of all subjects. He said weekly workshops are planned to focus on the teaching of reading.

People do not want to be told that their way of life should be changed. Even if they know that the way they are living is morally or spiritually wrong. If you recognize evil thoughts in someone, the only way you will be able to help them change those thoughts is to show them a better way, without revealing it to them.

I made many friends through this column because I verbally proved to many people that good was best and bad was worse. But I only did it by showing them the good sides.

About 2000 years ago a man walked this earth with a heart that was running over with good. He preached good and did good things throughout the land. In fact his heart was so good that the ruler at that time (who was bad) had this person executed. Not because he was bad, only because he showed evil in it's true perspective.

Today man should have by now learned his lesson. But still there are just a few people who judge a book by its cover. How many people have ever, outside of his immediate family, sat down and had a heart-to-heart talk with a mortician? You know who he is. Well, I did. It wasn't a planned interview or anything like that, we just happened to be sitting down face-to-face talking. Their occupation may seem de-humanizing to some people, (it did to me), but they are no different than the man who gives you your sermon each Sunday, or the man who picks up your garbage once a week, or any other man who's occupation you can think of.

This man was telling me how he came to settle in this fair city of ours, and how after a few years he still has not received the respect he thought he would obtain. The business he is assured of because of the lack of good competition. But he also would like to have the friendship that usually accompanies good business. People are still judging the book by its cover.

What's Happening At YAFA

COMMUNITY AIDES - YAFA staff with Vista volunteers includes (from left): O.T. Young Adults for Action, Inc. has been in successful operation since 1964. It originally started as a youth club designed to have organized recreational activities for its members. However, in 1965 YAFA became a public service organization with an organizational structure.

YAFA began to work with the problems of unemployment and as a result became a job opportunity center where youth and adult could receive jobs developed by YAFA, jobs that were up to then out of their reach. YAFA successfully negotiated with small and large businesses to hire and train community people who were unemployed and underemployed.

This netted youth and adults opportunities to work for large concerns like Western Electric, Kaiser Steel, Firestone, Monte Mart, Wester Volks-wagon, Battle Furniture, etc. The list is quite long. Western Electric trained youth and adults in various phases of the electronic field. Most were troubled youth and adults in need of a chance to become productive members of society as many of them are to day.

Some of YAFA's more widely known successes are as follows:

1. Rehabilitation Project. In 1971 YAFA developed a rehab project utilizing community resources to combat the recidivism of inmates formerly in C.D.C. Prison.

Program thrust is geared at facilitating positive readjustment into the community of ex-felons by providing:

(a) employment opportunities to those in need of a job to support themselves and families upon being released. YAFA works with employers as liason, in an attempt to get the employer to give a chance to an ex-felon. (b) acts as a resource agency for ex-felons to insure their knowledge of and an estimated 350 ex-community leaders and pected this year. Various their functions, and as a sock hops are scheduled referral agency to appropriate person or persons as field days. (c) works with com-munity leaders to make a semi professional football known problems of read-justment of ex-felons.

(d) works with inmate and family during and after incarceration. To insure better family relationship conducive to total rehabilitation.

(e) works as an additional support to parole offices and parolee.

After two years of his program YAFA has helped approximately 300 ex-felons receive a chance.

Federal Bureau of Statistics quote: It takes an average of $11,000.00 (eleven thousand dollars) per man per year for prosecution and upkeep during incarceration. This figure includes costs paid to families of inmates on welfare.

It is conceivable that YAFA has saved the taxpayers some 2.75 million dollars, in addition to performing a public service to the community, ex-felon and his family which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. There is no way of telling how many persons YAFA has turned away from the crime path before they got started, because YAFA gave them constructive alternatives, by working with probation officers and the courts.

2. Juvenile Crime Prevention Program with three interrelated parts:

(a) a comprehensive recreation program consisting of 2 POP Warner football teams and an additional one planned for this year, three basketball teams, physical fitness classes three nights a week, youth boxing on the slate for this year, bobbie sox softball league, drill team, annual Soapbox Derby for which YAFA provides the prizes.

YAFA also provides the assistance in building their entries. Community persons donate time to help fearless children built their carts. (Last years participants numbered 220 and an estimated 350 ex-community leaders and pected this year. Various their functions, and as a sock hops are scheduled throughout the year as well as field days.

In addition to the above youth recreation YAFA has made a semi professional football team and league. They sponsor five teams throughout Monterey County. These teams play each other and Soledad.

3. Educational Component:

(a) YAFA works on and off school grounds to help resolve problems such as narcotics influx on school grounds; YAFA provides counseling to young persons involved; acts as a resource to school agencies for youth such as: arts and crafts, sewing class, cooking class, gymnastics class, individual tutoring, classroom aides, plus various other functions related to the educational needs of young people.

4. Alternatives to Incarceration:

YAFA acts as a referral agency for courts, probation, Juvenile Hall, and parents; acts as counselor to troubled youth and provide alternatives to incarceration; makes plans for each individual according to specific needs; recreation, counseling, jobs, all play key roles in the plan tailored to the individual.

A typical case example was that of a youth referred to YAFA by the probation department for habitual truancy. "S" was given counseling and a specific person on YAFA staff to work with. This person took a personal interest in the youth and got him back into school. He worked with the parent of the youth and the school authorities keeping constant check on "S" and the relationship increased between "S" and his counselor and so did the attendance at school. "S" is now fully involved in school and has not missed a day during the last school semester. He has been taken off probation.

The above is an example of their work and is typical of many cases. YAFA's juvenile program involves around 600 youths a month. One of their graduates is presently the youngest faculty member at San Jose State College.

The most recent project is YAFA Enterprises. In a bid to become self-supporting and provide much needed jobs YAFA is presently involved in putting together a manufacturing company

Proclamation Monterey Bay Girl Scout Week Students Sample Classes

WHEREAS, the Oakside Neighborhood of the Girl Scouts consists of the combined areas of Seaside, Del Rey Oaks, and Sand City; and

WHEREAS, the Oakside Neighborhood has a total of 300 registered girls, and 50 registered adults, with 18 active troops and 36 leaders and co-leaders; and

WHEREAS, the Girl Scout organization is a non-profit organization, run at the girl-level solely by interested and dedicated adult volunteers, who have shown their faithful and continued dedication by their awareness of the needs and desires of our young girls and have so generously given of their time and talents, so the girls of our community may become happy and resourceful citizens, in spite of changing values and ideals in the world; and

WHEREAS, the week of March 1, 1973 through March 18, 1973 has been designated as National Girl Scout Week; NOW, THEREFORE, I, BERNARD J. DOLAN, JR., Mayor of the City of Seaside, California, hereby proclaim this same period as Girl Scout Week in the brotherhood City of Seaside, California.

It's quite alright for American consumers to lick the bees on a used car, squeeze loaves of bread for freshness, or test perfume on their wrists before making a purchase, so why shouldn't high school students sample their classes before they enroll in them?

This toe in the water approach will indeed be used at Monterey High School while students there are in the process of setting up class schedules for next fall.

Bud Wise, assistant principal for pupil personnel, has announced that March 7 will be "Preview Day," when sophomores and juniors students are invited to sample elective courses that will be available next September.

The school will run on a minimum day schedule until 12:30 p.m., when the students will be given two hours to visit as many as five different elective classes to learn what they are all about. The sampling will give students a better basis for selecting which elective courses they want to take in the fall.

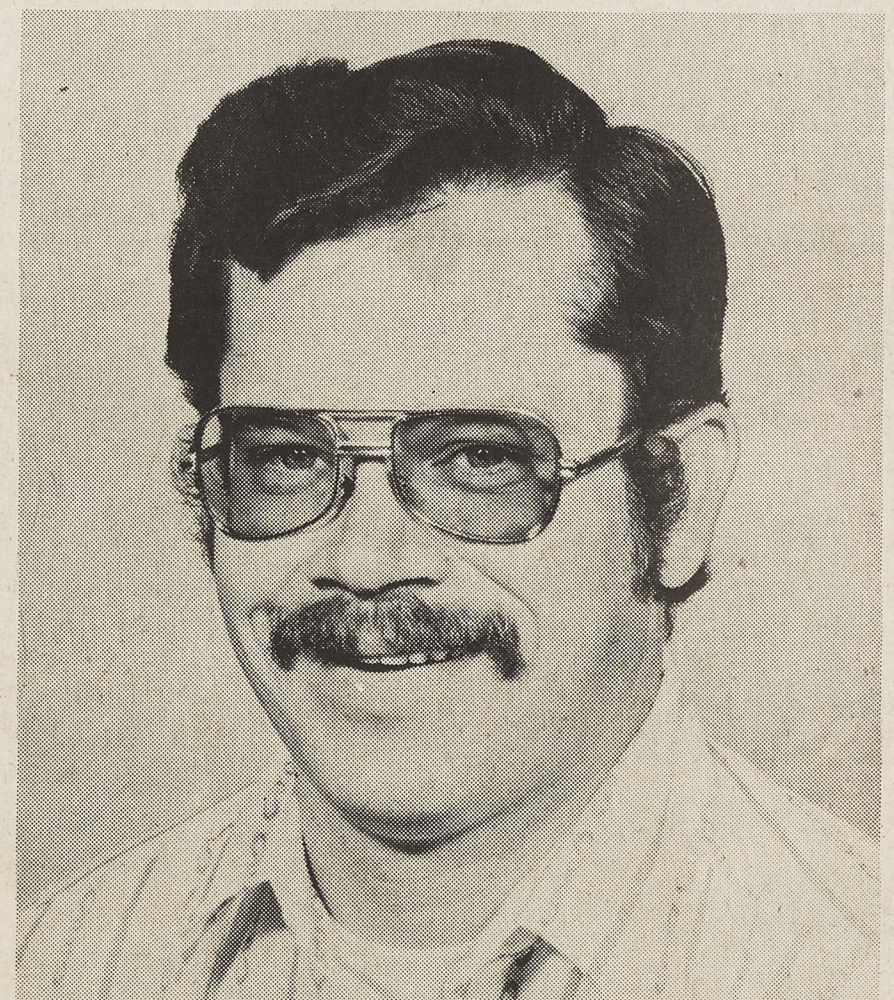

Behind the plan, Wise said, is an effort by school officials to avoid the scramble of program changes that usually follows the opening of a new semester.

18 years, even though the incident of juvenile crime is most readily found between ages 14 to 18 years. This is a factor which YAFA tries to educate the employer to in order to overcome this deficiency.

6. Book Drive: YAFA has an ongoing book drive and to date has collected 6000 books some of which have been distributed to Soledad State Prison, Juvenile Hall, and Tehachapi Prison. They have had calls from other facilities and intend continuing this service.

YAFA will continue to work to better the lives of all in this community, with your support they can.

Seaside High Offers Pay Day In Electronics

CHECKING IT OUT -- Seaside High School electronics classroom has been furnished with nearly $10,000 in new equipment, giving students there wide range of opportunities for training in electronics field. Sophomore Leroy Foreman, 16, of Seaside, is shown testing project with part of new instrumentation.

A few generations ago, young people of high school age with an interest in electronics might have stayed up half the night fussing with the latest crystal set.

Now, at Seaside High School, a student can sit in front of an $800 bank of advanced electronics equipment and, over a three-year period, delve into the world of transistors and digital computer circuits. Hardworking students can learn enough to qualify for first or second class licenses issued by the Federal Communications Commission.

Anderson said nearly $10,000 in new equipment has been installed in the electronics classroom, transforming it into "one of the best school labs in Monterey County."

With the addition of the new instrumentation, students, working in pairs, can sit at workbenches facing a high voltage power supply, a volt-ohm meter, a vacuum tube volt meter, a radio frequency signal generator, an audio generator and an oscilloscope.

Anderson calls this a "full complement of instrumentation," but then points out that $5,000 worth of material is still on order, in the form of individualized learning packages that will allow a student to program himself in any number of learning tasks, from basic electronics to transistor, digital and industrial circuits.

The high school's complete electronics program is spread over a three year period, beginning with a basic class in which one of the first jobs is to build a five-tube radio. In the second year, the class covers solid state electronics, which gets into the theory and applications of such devices as the diode, transistor and other components. The third year consists of an advanced electronic communications course that explores basic circuits and applies them to modern receiver and transmitter theory.

Along with providing students with fundamental knowledge about electronics, the Seaside High classes will get students well on the way into a multitude of job opportunities upon graduation, Anderson said.

Dance Class Starting

Several dances originally choreographed by Helen Tamiris will be taught during a spring dance repertory class being offered at Monterey Peninsula College.

The dances, entitled "Negro Spirituals," were choreographed as early as 1928. They were later recorded in a form of notation called labotation, a system which enables dancers who have never actually seen a dance performed to learn the dance.

The instructor of the dance repertory class, Els Grelinger, will use this system in teaching the class at MPC. According to Mrs. Grelinger, this is probably the first time this system will be used on the Peninsula.

The class will last 12 weeks, meeting on Thursdays from 8 to 10 p.m. in the MPC Dance Studio. The first session will be held Thursday, March 8. A $24 registration fee will be charged, and students should enroll with MPC Community Services before the first class meeting.

Els Grelinger taught a repertory class last year at UC-Santa Barbara, and she has instructed dance at the High School of Performing Arts in New York and the Juilliard School of Music. She has used labotation to record dances for many modern and ballet choreographers, and she has been a consultant for the New York State Arts Council and the Dance Notation Bureau in New York City.

At the end of the 12 week course, two public performances of "Negro Spirituals" will be given.

Seaside Ripples.

On the brighter side: Last week ended Black History Month. And it ended with a bang. The Black Students' Union of Monterey Peninsula College picked their Queen at the Outrigger last Friday Night while everyone danced to the music of the Elements of Peace. The highlight of the evening was when Mrs. Goldseger performed some authentic African Dances and gave a brief history of Africa to the audience.

Earlier in the evening Mr. James C. Stevenson of Steve's Barbeque joined me at the Students Union on MPC for a Soul Food Dinner. We discussed at length the rising food costs and how he is trying to combat it. But what was most enlightening was our discussion on what the Retired Men's Social Club, of which he is president, is doing for the young people of Seaside. He still needs a little more cooperation from the parents to encourage the young people to become interested in some of the activities of the club.

Another group of young people who are trying to start programs of interest to young people is the group of VISTA volunteers sponsored by YAFA (Young Adults for Action). They are presenting their programs to the schools now and their workshops are being accepted by the schools. But again it is important that the parents know about these programs and encourage their kids to become a part of these activities. Watch this newspaper for details as the news is released.

On December 15, 1971 Congress ratified perhaps the world's greatest codification of human rights, the first ten amendments to the Federal Constitution. That was eighteen years, less one day, after one of the first people's rights protests (The Boston Tea Party).

The Bill of Rights touched upon the intricate and vital and sometimes fragile relationships between individuals and their government, clarifying and strengthening the unalienable rights of men with which they had been endowed by their Creator.

The Constitution and the Nation, were young on that December day; and both have grown and changed. But the essential philosophy that was their inspiration and guide remains unaltered.

On December 20, 1948 the United Nations (man's latest effort to find some way to come and reason together) adopted a variation of that philosophy:

"All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and right....Everyone has the right to freedom of thought....Everyone has the right to freedom of opinion and expression."

So it is that the week of December 10 was designated Human Rights Week, commemorating the two declarations, U.S. and U.N. It is a good time to think. Think what equality and dignity, the pursuit of happiness, all mean. To think how sparsely those God-endowed rights are actually enjoyed throughout the world....even in this country.

To think, especially, about the responsibilities that go along with those rights; the responsibility we have to merit them, the responsibility we have to do all we can to assure them to all our fellow men, even those we don't happen to like very much.

In countries where there is still a recognition of what we call, in a very general fashion, the rights of the human person, a certain number of guarantees of freedom survive but we ought immediately to add that such guarantees are becoming less and less numerous and that, failing a very improbable reversal of the present general tendency of things, there will be a continuous demand for their reduction. It would be contrary to the fact of the case to assert that men.... in free countries today generally possess the power to square their conduct with their conscience. (from Man Against Great Societies - Marcel).

Mrs. Barragan is in Denver where her father is extremely sick. Would each and everyone of you join me and my staff in hoping everything turns out for the better, and quickly. God bless you all.

PROBLEMS-SOLUTIONS

"Racism, crime, environmental decay, sub-standard housing and inadequate education will not be solved by the faceless bureaucrats in Washington, but rather by the close cooperation of people and government officials on the state and local levels. The solutions to our domestic problems are not going to be found along the banks of the Potomac, but rather along the banks of the James, the Hudson and the Mississippi."—Virginia Governor Linwood Holton, Chairman, Republican Governors Assn., speaking to the Republican National Committee, Jan. 19, 1973.

Chamber of Commerce Progress Report

by Verlaine Crawford,
Executive Director

Planning, organization, ACTION! These are what make the Seaside Chamber of Commerce a living, active group of people in the community.

The Board of Directors Meetings on the first and third Thursdays of each month are very interesting. Committees are busy sharing the burden of deciding what should be done in the coming year.

MEMBERSHIP—March is membership month, and the members of this committee are encouraging private citizens, residents of Seaside, employees, to join the Chamber as Associate Members for only $15 per year. The idea is to get more input from people who live and work in Seaside or Fort Ord, or all they need to have is an interest in what happens in Seaside.

GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS—This is a new committee and is becoming very important in the Chamber. The members look over the agenda of the City Council Meetings, the Packet of Information that every Council Member gets, and discuss the contents and their relationship to business and residents. They also review the Planning Commission, Redevelopment Agency, County Government and State and National Legislation.

The Board of Directors voted to send me as a delegate to the 7th Annual Statewide Legislative Tax Forum and the Legislative Forum for Chambers of Commerce, sponsored by the California Chamber of Commerce in Sacramento on March 13-14. Anyone can attend, and if you might be interested, do call the Chamber to get one of the cards to make reservations. Registration is just $15 each day, which includes lunch and dinner. These meetings are set up to explain recent changes in the preparation, introduction and consideration of bills, as well as committee procedures and the legislative calendar.

Often we think that County, State and National Government have nothing to do with a relatively small community such as Seaside. Quite the opposite is true. The City of Seaside is a General Law City, which means... if the State Legislature makes a law, we in Seaside have to obey that law. That is why I feel it is important to understand the Legislative (Law Making) process find out who is responsible for what kinds of laws, and most important... let the law makers know where Seaside is, what we need and want.

BUS TRANSPORTATION—The Chamber Board discussed the possibility of establishing bus transportation (free) to and from Fort Ord on a daily basis. Orval Mead of the Peninsula Lodge reported on a man in San Diego who is running two successful buses paid for by advertising on the buses by local merchants.

The Chamber will be discussing this matter further on Wednesday, March 7, at 8 a.m. at the Chamber during the Business Development Meeting. We hope to talk to the City Manager, who has been studying a Peninsula-wide plan for public transportation. Any comments are welcome.

BICYCLE RODEO—The Chamber donated $50 to buy a Perpetual Trophy to be given at the Bike Rodeo that the Seaside Police are holding on March 17. The trophy will go to the winning school and move to the next winning school the following year. Free refreshments will be served. Bicycles will be awarded the winners, ages 6 to 14. It really sounds like fun!

Both the Chamber of Commerce and the City Council are very interested in getting a new County Health Medical Facility in Seaside. Naturally, you are probably aware that it is terribly difficult for many residents to get to the County Facility in Monterey. Why not take a moment out of your busy day and write to two people, telling them you feel Seaside needs a medical facility. The more people who write, the better chance we have to achieve success. Your letter counts, even if it is only a couple of sentences. They'll get the idea. What we need is the money to make a modern, up-to-date medical facility a reality. That means county funds. So, why not write a note, or a post card now... to...

County Supervisor - Roger Poyner
631 Abrego Street
Monterey, California 93940
Supervisor Poyner is your representative. He represents Seaside. So he must listen to your request. He is already sympathetic, but he needs to know you really care.

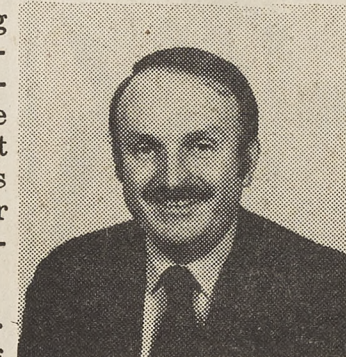

The other person to write to is... Allen Samuels, Director
Midcoast Comprehensive Health Planning
P.O. Box 1068
Salinas, California 93901

Mr. Samuels is in charge of developing a health plan for a three county area. He is very interested in Seaside, but before he can make Seaside a priority, before he can recommend that money be spent in Seaside for a health facility, he needs to hear from the people in Seaside. That is why you should take the time to send him a quick note.

We live in a representative government... that means that you vote for a representative (or somebody votes him into office) and then he needs to hear from his constituents (people in his district), so he can make decisions based upon what the citizens of the community want and need. Unfortunately, most people never open their mouths.

Anyway, the Chamber is interested in what you are thinking. The members are businessmen and women, professional people, private citizens, all interested in what needs to be done to make Seaside a great place to live, work and play. Call 394-6501 if you need information about joining the Chamber of attending meetings. You don't have to join to attend. Try it, you might like it!

Your Supervisor Reports

ROGER POYNER

I am pleased to announce that they city of Seaside and the County of Monterey are now working together on a possible location for a cooperative center which would house certain county services such as health care programs, welfare, food stamps, and possible city services. As your supervisor I will make every effort to obtain at least $100,000 of County Revenue Sharing Funds for this project. The money would be spent for land acquisition or construction. I believe I can convince the other supervisors that a real need exists for such a facility and that it should be located on upper Broadway close to Seaside's population center.

The Harambe Medical Clinic will continue to play an important role in providing health care services in Seaside. Later this week I will be meeting with Harambe and County officials to explore the possibility of the county contracting with Harambe to provide certain services and to make sure there will be no duplication of effort.

Providing adequate health care services for Seaside is not only a City and county concern, but also a state and federal responsibility. I am very disappointed that the President has seen fit to cut off funding for so many programs which provided health care and other services to help the poor and disadvantaged.

MEDICAL SERVICES

Throughout the years since Seaside's incorporation (October 13, 1954), the urgent requirement for a city situated medical facility has been unfilled. The reasons for this "benign neglect" are numerous; however, it would serve no purpose to recount the unsuccessful efforts expanded in the past. The simple fact is that we still urgently need a Medical Clinic plus other County Services be located in Seaside.

We have received numerous complaints regarding the hardships imposed on our poor people, who of necessity, must expend exorbitant amounts from their fixed monthly incomes for travel to distant County Health facilities. The public

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE

Should religious services be banned in the White House? Madeline O'Haire thinks they should. She is the gal who got the Supreme Court to outlaw compulsory prayer in schools, or something like that, and I think she tried to get something going when the astronauts made some mention about God or religion while on a tax-supported excursion trip to the moon.

Her point about the White House is two-fold. Although it is the President's home it is still public property and she does not like the idea of tax money paying for the roof over a bunch of people who are praying to God. Second, she implies that Mr. Nixon uses the services and prayer meetings for political purposes, and I suppose the Quakers, who have been trying in vain for years to interview Mr. Nixon, would agree that there might be more than just a possibility in that.

I used to wonder about that, myself. I had always thought Quakers were opposed to war, and something just did not jell when Mr. Nixon, who never failed to mention his Quaker background when running for election, made no bones about keeping the Vietnam war going for an extra four years and 21.0 extra lives purely for the sake of what we are now supposed to believe is an honorable withdrawal.

So, I asked a Quaker about it, and he very patiently explained to me that there are two branches of Quakers - the peace-loving Quakers and the other branch, all of which reminds me of a big hassle in the Catholic church a few years ago. I had done some research for an article I wrote on

Officer Gerald House:

Desiring a career in law enforcement, Officer Gerald House joined the Seaside Police Department in January, 1969 after serving two and a half years with the Army. While in the Army, Officer House was assigned to the military police serving in Hawaii, Fort Gordon, Ga., and Fort Ord. During his tour of duty at Fort Ord, he developed a liking for the Monterey Peninsula and upon his discharge he and his wife took up residency.

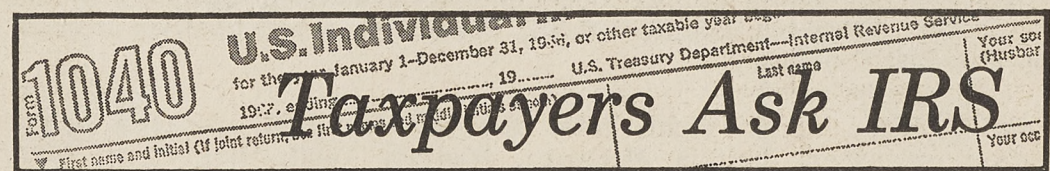

A native of California, Gerald was born and raised in Sacramento. After graduating from high school in Sacramento, he entered Sacramento City College as a Music Major. During the one and a half years he went to Sacramento City College he also worked as a professional musician and made several tours throughout the United States. Had his education not been interrupted by the U.S. Army and his affiliation with the military police, Gerald would still be a professional musician.

Gerald is a Graduate of the Police Academy located at Gavilan College in Gilroy. Since joining the Seaside Police Department he has taken numerous Police Science Classes at Monterey Peninsula College, and has attended various institutes and other classes outside MPC to further his knowledge in Law Enforcement.

For the year 1971, Officer House was selected as Officer of the Year, for his professional attitude and superior performance as a police officer. The "Officer of the Year" award is given by the American Legion Post 591.

The future plans Gerald has set for himself consist only of his continued education and furthering his career in law enforcement.

Away from the job Gerald enjoys all outdoor sports and activities, such as skiing, golf, fishing, tennis, hunting and swimming. Gerald, being very athletic-minded, has developed his own kind of sport by falling off buildings, fences, and turning his ankle in his divots while playing golf. Even with this odd sport which Gerald enjoys, it is a pleasure to have him associated with the Seaside Police Department.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) May a commercial tax preparer sell information he obtains from a person's tax return?

A) No. It is a misdemeanor for any person engaged in the business of preparing tax returns, or providing services in connection with such a business or for any person who receives compensation for filling out a return to disclose Federal tax return information or use it for any purpose other than to assist in preparing the return. Violations may be punished with a $1,000 fine or a year in prison or both.

Q) Why does this year's tax return ask taxpayers how many of their dependents filed returns or did not live with them at the end of 1972?

A) To distribute revenue sharing funds properly to States, counties, townships, and municipalities, the Federal Government must know how many people live in each place. Tax returns can count much of the population, but the Government must subtract from this amount anyone who should be counted somewhere expenses for tax counsel and assistance.

Q) I earned more than $10,000 last year. Will the IRS still figure out my tax for me?

A) Yes. If your adjusted gross income is $20,000 or less and consists only of wages or salaries and tips, dividends, interest, pensions, and annuities, the IRS will be glad to compute your tax at your request. However, you must take the standard deduction instead of itemizing your deductions, fill in certain lines, and file your return by April 16, to have the IRS do the figuring for you. Be sure to read the instructions that come with the Forms 1040 and 1040A as to the lines that have to be completed.

Q) My tax return asks a question about foreign bank accounts. I don't have one. Do I still have to answer the question?

A) Yes. Just check the box marked "no" if during the year you had no interest or authority over a bank or other financial account in another country. Persons who did have foreign bank accounts during the year must complete and attach to their return IRS Form 4683. Use the order blank on the back of your tax forms package to obtain a copy.

else. That is the purpose of this question.

Remember that dependent students who were away at school on Dec. 31, 1972, but who live with you when not at school, are to be considered as living with you at year's end.

Q) I operate my own business. Do you have a booklet that will help me fill out my business tax returns?

A) Yes. IRS Publication 334, the 1973 "Tax Guide for Small Business," provides detailed information on tax matters that may arise in setting up, operating, or disposing of a business, whether it is a sole proprietorship, partnership, or corporation. The booklet is available for 75 cents at IRS offices, U.S. Government Printing Office bookstores and some post offices throughout the country.

Q) Last year I paid $15 to have my tax return prepared. Can I deduct this amount on my 1972 income tax return?

A) Yes. If you itemize your deductions, you may deduct

Black History Week Celebrated By MPC-BSU

The Black Student Union Club of Monterey Peninsula College celebrated Black History Week last Friday, March 2, in the college center. They served a soul food dinner from 6 to 8 p.m. that would delight the most discriminating eater.

After the dinner, the BSU/MPC presented a "Nite With the Black Queen." This event was held at the Outrigger on Cannery Row, Monterey. Music was furnished by Elements of Peace.

A Queen was chosen from three contestants. The winner was Miss Deara Jeans. She will reign on her throne until this time next year when another queen will be chosen. Runners-up were Elaine Morris and Sayuri Thompson.

During intermission Mrs. Reinea Goldseger presented a brief history of Africa and its culture. She also told of some of her personal experiences while visiting Africa.

There will be another visit to Africa this summer with as many people who care to join. The fare including expenses is approximately $2,000 round trip.

Anyone desiring more info should contact Mrs. Goldseger at (408) 257-5550. Mrs. Goldseger teacher African Native Dances at DeAnza College and she presented some of the original dances for the audience.

Deaf Artist Demonstrates Palm Painting

Artist Daniel Wang, a deaf and mute Chinese painter, will give a public demonstration of "PALM PAINTING" for Seaside Art Commission this Friday, March 9 at 7:30 pm in the City Hall Council Chamber. This is the Spring free lecture-demonstration presented annually before the summer series, and everyone is invited to attend.

Artist Wang has been deaf since birth. His parents sent him to a school for the deaf in Shanghai. Later he went to Hong Kong. At 13 he began to study art under Shu Tung-Pai; at 15 he was a member of an artists' association. In 1954 he had his first art exhibition abroad in Phoenix, Arizona. Wang was a commercial designer for two years before he got serious about his palm paintings.

Despite a minimal education, Wang taught himself English, Chinese, and sign language. Through sign language, Wang can communicate with his wife, who is also deaf, and his 2 year old son. Wang said that he developed his palm-painting technique by accident while doing oils for 20 years. "Painting is like a flower. You water it, feed it, and it blooms," so says Wang, who is on welfare now hoping to make a living in America.

Artist Wang will bring some of the many paintings he painted to show in the Council Chamber. During the last art trip that Chairman C.Y. Lee of the Art Commission took with the adults here, several brought Wang's paintings home. It was then and at Chinatown that Wang was invited to come down from San Francisco to give such a unique demonstration.

Morro Bay Oyster Festival Is Soon

An anticipated several thousand visitors will visit Morro Bay on the weekend of March 16, 17 and 18 to attend the fifth annual OYSTER FESTIVAL. They will come from all over the state as enthusiasm mounts, due to the unique nature of the event and the widespread publicity given by the press, television and radio.

Ralph Johnson's Morro Bay Oyster Company raises all the oysters grown commercially in the bay on 1,058 underwater acres. Morro Bay is the only place in California where a private oyster bed is opened for public enjoyment and inspection. All oyster beds now in existence are privately owned and artificially seeded and cultivated. Approximately five acres of beds will be set apart for the public to visit during the Festival. The beds are reached by boats leaving Morro Bay's Embarcadero. Round trip fares are $1 per person. There will be extremely low tides in the afternoon of March 17th, making conditions ideal for visiting the oyster beds. Visitors will be able to walk over the beds (with suitable footwear) and study the oyster in all stages of development, from seedlings to great big juicy rugged monsters. The public will be able to harvest their own mollusks if they wish, for the minimal fee of $1.50 per dozen. Free oyster stew will be served at the Veterans Memorial Building along with L'Huitriere, a new seafood wine, being introduced during the Festival.

A LIGHTED BOAT PARADE will be held on Saturday evening at 8:30. Viewing will be good at any location along the shores of the bay. Other events scheduled include: a Boat Show, a Square Dancing Exhibition and an Art Show. Reservations for motel

What does the Chichenoff family of Ouzinkie, Alaska, have in common with the Kramer family of Grant Park, Illinois?

A Share In Nearly A Billion Dollars.

Zack Chichenoff, his wife and six children all live in Ouzinkie, Spruce Island, Alaska. Because the Chichenoff family is Native Alaskan Aleut, each member is entitled to a share in the land claims settlement recently enacted by the Federal Government.

In Grant Park, Illinois, Larry Kramer and his three children are also eligible. Larry is half-Aleut, born on Atka Island, Alaska. But in 1942, as the Japanese poised to invade Alaska, little Larry was evacuated. He never went home again. Instead, he married Romany Hall and settled down in her home town of Grant Park, Illinois. Larry of course, is eligible for a share in the claims settlement. So are Larry and Romany's three children who are one-quarter Alaskan Native.

There are an estimated 15,000-20,000 Alaskan Natives outside the state who may be eligible for a share of nearly one billion dollars. And cutoff for registration is March 30, 1973. If you—or anyone you know—are at least one-quarter Alaskan Indian, Eskimo or Aleut, contact the Alaska Native Enrollment Office for information as to how you may register.

Next Tuesday, March 13, the M.P.C. Theatre. This Black play was first produced in May, 1969 at the New York Shakespeare Festival Public Theatre. This particular play on the 13th is produced by a handful of students from the drama department. It is quite an informative play, so come on out there and give these "actors" your fine support.

I've been absent for a week on a little R. and R., so will makeup for what has been lost.

On the 24th and 25th of February, Jimmy (Spoon) Witherspoon appeared at the San Carlos Hotel. He was steady jamming as usual. It was a little disappointing, although, to see or should I say not to see many people there (same with the Bobby Freeman Review the same weekend). Evidently it wasn't publicized enough. I did, however, talk to Jimmy and found out some very interesting things about what he is into. Jimmy, along with WAR, LEON RUSEL, and MICHAEL ALLMAN are cutting an LP entitled, "JIMMY WITHERSPOON AND THE CHILDREN OF THE BLUES." Should be very heavy. Jimmy's young back-up group has been playing with him now for seven months. They definitely cook, especially

The Evolution of Man

As all of life is evolving, so is man evolving. We know that the beginnings of Man were very primitive. Man was once just another of the beasts of the earth, until one day he discovered that he could think and reason. When he realized that he was thus now different from the rest of the animal kingdom, he fell out of harmony with the natural order. He "sinned" immediately, because he exercised for the first time his newly found capacity of "free will," and unfortunately exercised it in the wrong direction. He choose evil rather than good. Thus he fell out of harmony with God and His creation.

This is what the Church has termed "original sin." Yet the Church then sinful nature was his ESSENTIAL nature. At this point Western theology made its greatest mistake. Because it deemed man "by nature, sinful and unclean" it assumed that man could thus not be any different than he was. And Man's history in many ways seems support this assumption. Most men are still "sinful and unclean." Thus these taught that they needed a "savior" to extricate themselves from the mire. Jesus supposedly set us right again with God by his Eleven judges will be on hand to judge approximately 400 contestants in various categories including solo twirling, team twirling, dance-twirl, strutting, Miss Majorette and parade corps. Contestants will range in age from 4 years through 18.

Approximately 100 members of the Monterey, Pacific Grove, Seaside and Salinas Twirl Clubs will be participating. Included in the Twirl Club entries will be 6 teams ranging from Beginning to Junior to their advanced Senior Team, the "Monarchs," former California State Team Champions and currently the Western States Team Champions.

sacrifice on the cross. Thus, "Christians" who were taught that they were "saved" from sin through mere belief in a man called Jesus, stopped trying to perfect themselves, because they honestly thought it to be unnecessary, and even wrong to do so. This is unfortunate, because most christians never took, with any seriousness, Jesus' teaching that one must be "born again," that is, turn from evil ways and seek perfection. Thus the Christian Church has the bloodiest history of all world religions, killing "heathens" and heretics, and at best drumming out of the Church anyone who disagreed with the dogma that man is essentially sinful. After all, if there are no sinners, the Church is out of business, and priests would have nothing to do. Thus the Church must keep on telling everyone they are sinful and fill them with guilt so that it can take away the guilt and "save" everyone.

It is a simple psychological fact that if you drum into a child's head that he is "bad," he will come to believe it and will, in fact, act bad to substantiate his own self concept. If, on the other hand, you tell a child he is good, he will begin to believe it and act accordingly. Is it any wonder that so many "christians" are still evil in their thoughts and actions when they have had it drummed into their heads since childhood that they were "sinners." How else can a sinner expect to act, save sinfully? What is one had been taught that he were a "saint"? Would he not try to actualize this self concept?

Unfortunately, the Church perversely teaches that man CANNOT be any better than And with this theology permeating the Western world, it is no wonder that we are gluttons, wine bibbers, lustful, greedy, dishonest and unjust to our fellow man? We have been programmed to believe that we can not be anything else.

Yet we must seriously question if this is the teaching of Jesus the Christ. Was His teaching not "go and sin no more," "you must be born again," "be ye perfect, even as your Father in Heaven is perfect." It is my opinion that His Gospel. His "good news" was not that He came to take the responsibility off our shoulders, but that He came to show that all men were children of God and that we could be like Him if we allowed His Nature to blossom within us. Paul said, "not I, but Christ in me." That is, Paul realized his sessential nature was not the ego-separate identity-Paul of Tarsus, but that his ESSENTIAL nature was Divine, which he realized when he opened his heart to God's Presence in Christ. Thus he became Christ Conscious. He became One with the Father, through the Son. He became a saint. This is "salvation."

Just so have many, many mendone in history. There have been great masters and saints of all times, a fact which proves that the CAPABILITY of perfection, of beoming one with God, lies dormant within every man, once a man is "reborn" and allows his divine nature to function, allows God to be the actor rather than the ego-self.

Granted, these men have been few and far between, but events in our present day seem to indicate to me that many, many people are now waking up to the realization that their true nature, or "higher" nature is Divine, that God and Pefection lies dormant within us all.

Thus in this day we will begin to witness the beginnings of the actual transformation of masses of people seeking God in the deepest way possible. These events will mark the final step of homo sapien into a higher life form. When this work is finally accomplished universally, the Kingdom of God on Earth will be ushered in, and soon thereafter all history will end, as man takes his final steps back to the Godhead from which he came. What will happen when creation and history comes to its consumation? Next: Omega Day
